Passion

Watching someone like Lady gaga, Kanye West, P!nk and other inspiring artist on Television, makes me believe that with my talent and by doing what I love I could be successful and achieve a lot.

Art is a diverse range of human activities and the products of those activities, usually involving imaginative or technical skill. I love painting and drawing because it's an art and the only way I could express myself. It's my comfort zone and that's why I'm passionate about it.

Ending of last year, I went through some tough time had problem with my family, friends, work and school. It was a really tough time because the people I could actually relay on are the ones I'm having problem with, so I felt alone and then I realized I needed to grow faster than I have imagined, to be responsible for my life. Art was the only way I had to express how I was feeling, it gave me my voice.....

TALENT

I think I have a lot of talent in me which still need to brought out and that is way I'm studying IBIS. The one I know of is what I am passionate about.

Definition Success

I would say the definition of success is when I reach the place and I know and feel that I'm contented. For me to be contented that means I'm happy, people around me are and I have made a change!

Business Dream

When I think about my Business dream, I think of plans that would make me become a good Entrepreneur and also become an inspiration for other Entrepreneurs. For the past 1,5 years I have been thinking of something I could create out of my Talent because it the thing I love doing best. I love Art and I have been thinking of how that could be a benefit to me and the society and the only thing I came up with is selling my paintings or creating a fashion trend. Something like the Yeezy boot, having a unique idea of how an event should be, a music video, or how a product should be. All together I think creative manager, designer, trend watcher and change management would be one of business position because it would give me the opportunity to make a change.

Kim Kardashian: To me she's a woman that made something out of nothing. An good Entrepreneur, Marketer and Artist.

Yeezy boot (2014&2015 trend): It inspired me because how can such an ugly red boot becomes a trend. Kanye West the designer also inspires me because he is a real artist.

P!nk and Lady gaga Pop artist: They have both inspired more than 1 billion civilian positively. I hope I can do the same in the future.

Long term goal

Bachelor

Action: I would do that by making sure I follow every instructions at school, make sure everything and decision I make at school is the right choice and spend a lot of time doing them.,

Management

Action: I would do by making sure I get my degree and enough experience that I need to prepare me for this position.

Business

Action: With my diploma in my pocket, loads of management experience I think I could pursue my own business career or even start a little one at my 3rd year of studies.

Short term goals

Propaedeutic Certificate: getting my propaedeutic certificate is very important in the stage of life that I'm in now because it would not only make it possible for me to get to the next class but would also make it possible for me to be an exchange student abroad. Being an exchange student would be a great experience for me.

Sales assistant: Why I choose this for one of my short term goal is because getting a sale job in the Netherland as a foreigner is difficult because of the language barrier and the different culture thing. I'm improving Dutch fluency every single day and I know that if I get to have a job in a reasonable company in the Netherlands as a sales assistant I would be capable to work in any Dutch community company without having a language barrier etc.

Commitment

Hard work is the only answer to a goal, and that's what I am going to do. I just have to commit to this, I have no other plan, if it doesn't work out the first time I would try again and again because I started with nothing I don't want to end up with nothing. I'm a goal getter!

Reflexion

My first lesson at “what is my backpack?” as really expanded knowledge and I’m really looking forward to the rest of the lesson. The first lesson got me thinking about innovating new stuff. I started coming up with different ideas, I was thinking critically in a very fast way, and finding better solutions to problems around me. I don’t think it is only the class that has changed me, I think it is because I’m in a happy place now. IBIS has giving me my voice it’s like I have found my voice and I’m looking forward to it in the future. I cannot imagine millions of people who died without finding their ways or themselves. It’s sad I know because I have been there.

I was a bit nervous when everybody was asked to talk about their future plans because I thought they were too personal. My classmates gave almost the same response but later I realised most of them were maybe afraid to really say what they wanted to do or become in the future. This made me step back and think do I have to act the same way they were thinking I thought the teachers are supposed to help and they could only help us, is for us to be open.

It was turn, and the Questions that popped on my mind to find the correct answers were: why I am here? what are my passion? what do I really want? Almost exactly the same question she asked use to use if we haven’t really figured it out yet.

I remember when I was applying for IBIS and the basic question I asked myself was would like to work in a bank? Yes, and that would be as a Project Manager. As project manager you have to make sure every project in a company is in order and your idea will be used to make a difference which I would really be proud of. I have a lot of potential and that position suits me perfectly. Another position I would also like is to be in is a Business Analyst because a Business Analyst is someone who analyses an organisation or business domain this job is a perfect match for me because most the time I spend time analysis things because I am always curious. Most of the time I get to the bottom of those things and everything works well. That why I am a me a perfect match! I don’t think I would like to work as a Project Manager all my life so I have thought of something that with all my experience as a project manager or a Business Analyst and with something I really enjoy doing which is using the social media and following the trends. Trend watcher is the perfect job to do.

I told her all this and she loved my idea, she also gave me tips like following the famous Trend Watcher on social media. Which I have done and have seen so many new ideas too as well. This will not only help me for my future plan but also for my school project which is coming up soon.
